TSG triumphs at Sophos Partner Awards

Sophos, a world leader in protecting businesses against viruses, spyware and spam, has announced the winners of its Partner Awards 2006, designed to showcase its top performing UK channel business partners.

Technology Services Group (TSG) was named as Small Business Partner of the year, as well as receiving a commendation in the category of New Business Growth Partner, in recognition of its continuing growth in sales and commitment to providing Sophos solutions to small businesses across the UK.

The Partner Awards recognise resellers that have demonstrated a dedication to building advantageous, successful and profitable relationships, both with customers and the Sophos sales team.

'We have built a strong relationship with TSG since its inception in 2003, and have been impressed with the level of expertise and support they provide to their customers' said Stuart Small, UK sales and marketing director at Sophos.

Paul Burns, technical director at TSG, accepted the award from Steve Munford, Sophos CEO, and said: 'To receive the Small Business Partner award is a credit to everyone at TSG, and we're delighted to be recognised for our commitment to Sophos. We're dedicated to offering the very best service to our customers, and new Sophos Anti-Virus solutions in the pipeline mean we're ideally placed to continue with that high standard of service in the future.'

The awards took place on 11 May at the Hilton Metropole, London, as part of the Sophos UK Partner Conference 2006. This annual event offers Sophos business partners an insight into future plans and developments, as well as providing a platform on which to discuss ideas.
